Thursday December 29 at the Horseshoe Curve Restaurant: “Jimmy Cherry” Originals, Alternative Music.

FRIDAY DECEMBER 30 - “Friant Family Concert” 7:00 PM Suggested Donation $10. The Barns at Rose Hill will present a homegrown group of artists, the Friant Family. Born and raised in Berryville, members of the family performing for this concert include John Friant and his sisters, Clissy Funkhouser, Mary Veilleux and Nina Geiger, and Nina's children, Grace, Caroline, Jack and Molly Geiger.

John Friant is a well-known local musician who sings and plays just about anything with strings: guitar, bass, fiddle, mandolin and hammer dulcimer. He plays bass and handles vocals for a number of local jazz groups in a variety of genres, including swing (Hot Club Millwood), classic (Shenandoah Sheiks) and progressive (GKTrio). John is also a multi-instrumentalist and vocalist for The Brogue Rogues, a traditional Celtic group and Rogues Gallery, a local old-timey/country band.

The Friant and Geiger women enhance family and church functions with songs made sweeter by their melodious harmonies. Nina sings and plays piano with the Shenandoah Sheiks, and performs with Clissy at the Rumsey Radio Hour in nearby Shepherdstown, WV. Clissy is a talented lyricist whose musical toasts and roasts have delighted and embarrassed friends and family alike for the last thirty years, and she is equally adept at political musical satire (listen to one of her recent political songs on YouTube, StopPATH). Mary is an excellent singer in her own right, who along with her brother John is a cantor at St. Bridget's Chapel and a member of its church choir. The Geiger children's' vocal harmonies can perhaps be best described as angelic.

The Friant Family will be performing traditional (and some not-so-traditional) seasonal holiday music and other spirituals, interspersed with humorous parodies composed by Clissy over the years. Some special guest musicians have also been lined up for this show.

Suggested donation for the concert is $10. Revenue from this concert will help support The Barns' ongoing operating costs, with a portion of the proceeds to go to the Nancy L. Friant Scholarship Fund for the Performing Arts, an endowed scholarship fund administered by the Clarke County Education Foundation for deserving Clarke County High School students who have demonstrated aptitude in the fields of music, theater and dance.
